From the NYT & USA Today Bestselling romance author, an addicting and electrifying story of a woman with a broken past and the man who can't fight his attraction to her... Twenty-three year old rising theater star Jill McCormick has built a life out of pretending. Pretending she's happy, pretending she's not haunted by the dark secret that shattered her world six years ago. But then she comes face to face with her new director - sexy, sophisticated, possessive, all-alpha Davis Milo. He tries to resist the actress he's cast, but the attraction between them is too powerful, and soon their private rehearsals spiral into new, forbidden territory. The passionate connection, the intense chemistry is undeniable, and it hits them anywhere, and everywhere - in the theater, on the piano, in the limo, in the restaurant... But the tragedy in Jill's past stands between them. Davis has walls too, so they can either face their fears together, or risk the deepest love and greatest passion either has ever felt... -He brings one hand behind my head and unclips my hair, letting it fall over his fingers. I tremble from his touch as a shiver runs down my spine. "I like your hair up and I like your hair down," he whispers to me, breaking down all my resistance in an instant.-

From #1 New York Times bestselling author Lauren Blakely comes a scintillating forbidden romance between a director and his actress... The first rule of directing is simple: Never fall for your leading lady. The second? Don't let it get to you when she stage kisses another man. Looks like I've already broken both. Now my jealous, possessive heart wants all of her — the ingenue who's the star of my next show. I'm captivated by her raw talent, her addictive charm, and her desperate need for me. Soon we're staying late in the empty theater, our private rehearsals spiraling into forbidden territory. Exactly where I can't go. Because then I'd break the most dangerous rule of all. Don't give her your heart.
