1. The first reason why Saint Louis de Montfort's approach of trying to connect people with Jesus through the Blessed Mother was so controversial is because Mary is not omnipresent. Because Mary is part of God's creation (as per the Catechism of the Catholic Church in Section 488 and 493) she cannot be in two places at the same time. The same is true for all of God's creatures, including the angels and archangels.

John Paul II, in particular, was its tireless champion, crediting True Devotion with a turning-point in his spiritual life, adopting his motto, Totus tuus, from St. Louis. The key to De Montfort's Marian spirituality is that he considered Our Lady to be the infallible and chosen gate to the heart of Christ To Jesus through Mary: it is Christ Himself Who is at the centre of True Devotion.

This True Devotion is basically two books: The first part is de Monfort's very French, very flowery 17th century devotional prose about Mary. In it he defends his new devotion to our Blessed Mother. I found it impossible to read. Yes, I could have skimmed it, but one hates to skim a devotional work.
